

Joy Luck Club

A one-page metacognitive preview, with thoughtful predictions about the book we are about to read.

Looking at your copy of the book, reading about Amy Tan in the library, come up with a prediction of what this novel is going to be about.

I want you to write about a page (250 words), explaining in as much detail as you can, what you expect to read about in this book. I also want you to explain why you have the expectations you have. In other words, I want you to say why you believe what you believe. You need to provide evidence for your educated guesses.

Your goal here is to show that you have carefully looked over your book, previewed the chapter headings, read the reviews, and generally prepared yourself for the book. Another goal is for you to have some practice making thoughtful predictions and educated guesses about what's to come in the literature.
